SECTION II

ADMINISTRATION

The Colorado property tax system provides revenue exclusively for local government services. The state does not impose a levy although by Constitution it could do so. The largest share of property tax revenue (60.8%) goes to support the state's public schools. County governments claim the next largest share (22.7%), followed by special districts (9.1%) and municipal governments (7.4%).

The authority for property taxation is both constitutional and statutorial. Article X of the Colorado Constitution provides that all property is taxable unless declared exempt by the Constitution and that actual value of taxable property shall be determined under the general laws to secure just and equalized valuations. The specific statutes pertaining to property taxation are found in Title 39, Articles 1 through 13, Colorado Revised Statutes.

Under the general laws of Colorado, county assessors are required to list and value all taxable property within their territorial jurisdictions. The State Board of Equalization has supervision of the administration of all laws concerning the valuation and assessment of taxable property and the levying of property taxes. The Division of Property Taxation, under the leadership of the Property Tax Administrator, coordinates and administers the implementation of property tax law throughout the sixty-three counties.

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

Membership

A 1982 Constitutional amendment reconstituted the State Board of Equalization to include the Governor or his designee; the Speaker of the House of Representatives or his designee; the President of the Senate or his designee; and two members, appointed by the governor with consent of the Senate, who are either an appraiser, a former assessor, or knowledgeable and experienced in property taxation. The amendment also provided for the appointment of the Property Tax Administrator by the board and removed the position from the state personnel system.

Duties and Responsibilities

The most significant change in property tax assessment brought about by the passage of the 1982 Constitutional Amendment has been in the area of enforcement. The amendment outlined a comprehensive plan by which the State Board of Equalization (state board) enforces uniformity and equity.

First, beginning in 1983, the General Assembly was mandated to initiate an annual study. The study was designed to measure assessment compliance with the Constitution and statutes and to provide an extensive set of facts on which to base reappraisal decisions.

Second, if the study showed a lack of compliance, the State Board of Equalization was mandated to issue orders to county assessors for reappraisal of classes and/or subclasses of property . The orders were to be implemented during 1984, under the direction of the county assessor, at the expense of the county.

Third, for 1984, if the annual study showed that the assessor failed to reappraise as ordered in 1983, the State Board of Equalization was mandated to issue an additional order to reappraise. The orders were to be implemented in 1985 under the direction and supervision of the state board.

Fourth, for 1985, if the reappraisal showed that the state board was correct in ordering the assessor to reappraise, the Board of County Commissioners was required to pay back to the state the cost of supervising the reappraisal and was also required to levy an additional property tax to reimburse the state for any excess state equalization payments made to school districts because of improper values. The excess was the difference between the amount of state aid actually paid and what would have been paid had the county been in compliance.

Fifth, beginning in 1985, the annual study was also required to calculate the aggregate valuation for assessment of each county. If the aggregate valuation of a county, as reflected in its abstract for assessment, was more than five percent below that which was determined by the annual study, the State Board of Equalization was mandated to order a reappraisal of any class or subclass of property that was not appraised consistent with the constitution or statutes. A county had to pass both the annual assessment study requirements of compliance with the Constitution and statutes and the aggregate valuation test in order to avoid any possible reappraisal order by the state board.

Also, beginning in 1985, each county ordered to reappraise was required to reimburse the state for excess state equalization payments made to school districts, with interest. If a county's valuation for assessment was more than five percent below the aggregate valuation determined by the annual study, but the state board failed to order a reappraisal, state equalization payments to the schools were based on the county's abstract and the Board of County Commissioners was required to levy an additional property tax the following year to reimburse the state for any excess state equalization payments as if the payments had been based on the aggregate valuation determined by the study.

1983 Enforcement Actions

The first test of the effectiveness of the amendment came on September 24, 1983, when the newly constituted board met to review the County Abstracts of Assessment. The state board issued orders to change the abstracts in seventeen counties. There were six basic issues:

1. Ten counties had assessed vacant residential land at 21 percent instead of 29 percent of actual value. Under the provisions of Senate Bill 6, only improved residential property with dwelling units was to be assessed at 21 percent of actual value. The ten counties were:

   Adams
   Boulder
   Clear Creek
   Dolores
   Garfield
   Moffat
   Montezuma
   Montrose
   Rio Blanco
   Routt

2. Three counties had assessed agricultural improvements at 21 percent instead of 29 percent. These counties were:

   Adams Douglas Summit

3. The board reversed the decision of the County Board of Equalization concerning the issue of open space in four counties. Open space was a preferential assessment for residential landowners that was repealed by implication when the amendment was passed. These counties were:

   Douglas El Paso Jefferson Summit

4. The board reversed the decision of the Arapahoe County Board of Equalization to use a 21% assessment rate on some vacant residential land.

5. The board reversed the decision of the County Board of Equalization concerning orchard land valuation in Montrose County.

6. The board reversed the decision of the County Board of Equalization concerning agricultural land valuation in Rio Grand and Alamosa County.

The Douglas County Board of Commissioners contested the order of the State Board regarding open space. District Court in Douglas County Board of Commissioners v. State Board of Equalization, held that the special tax treatment for open space residential land was indeed repealed by implication by the passing of Constitution Amendment Number 1.

The board met again on November 9, 1983, to review the results of the first annual assessment study. The assessment study had confirmed that inequalities did, in fact, exist. The board found that there were variations within property classes, variations between property classes, and variations among levels of assessments.

The existing statutes required the county assessors to change valuations for assessment from the 1973 level to the 1977 level of value effective January 1, 1983. The state board recognized that the constitutional amendment, in effect, gave the county assessors one more chance to perfect the change from the 1973 level to the 1977 level in 1984.

Based on the results of the annual assessment study, the state board issued reappraisal orders to 62 of the 63 counties. Pitkin was the only county not to receive an order. Eight counties did not attempt to implement the reappraisal during 1983 and were ordered to reappraise all property. There were ten basic reappraisal issues. The following is a list of reappraisal issues and the number of orders given:

1. Single Family Residential	49 counties
2. Multi-Family Residential	4 counties
3. Condominiums	10 counties
4. Open Space	5 counties
5. Commercial	43 counties
6. Industrial	3 counties
7. Agricultural Land	38 counties
8. Agricultural Improvements	32 counties
9. Natural Resource/Gravel	14 counties
10. Mobile Homes	25 counties

As mandated by the amendment, the state board issued orders to those counties found to be not in compliance with the Constitution and Statutes.

1984 Enforcement Actions

On September 10, 1984, the state board met again to review County Abstracts of Assessment. This time, the state board ordered changes to four county abstracts.

1. The state board again reversed the Arapahoe County Board of Equalization and ordered vacant residential land to be assessed at 29 percent instead of 21 percent of actual value.

2. The state board reversed the Custer County Board of Equalization and ordered that forested land not qualifying as agricultural be assessed as single family residential land.

3. The state board reversed the Logan County Board of Equalization concerning an improper rollback of valuation for commercial and residential land.

4. The state board reversed the Prowers County Board of Equalization regarding an improper granting of exemption to a mobile home.

The state board reviewed five other issues at this time, but declined to accept jurisdiction.

Out of the orders issued on September 10, 1984, two court cases arose contesting the state board's authority and its interpretation of the 21 percent residential assessment rate related to Arapahoe County's abstract order.

In Centrex Home Corporation v. State Board of Equalization, the district court held that the 21 percent assessment rate is applicable only on improved residential parcels with dwelling units either completed or under construction. The court also upheld the state board's constitutional and statutorial authority to order the changes. A related case under the name Writer Corporation v. State Board of Equalization is still pending in a higher court.

In Efren Romero et al. v. State Board of Equalization, the district court ordered the state board to make available a Spanish "notice of valuation" form to certain counties in Colorado.

On October 22, 1984, the state board met to review the results of the second annual assessment study. The state board found that 53 counties had reached the 1977 level of value and maintained acceptable uniformity among taxpayers. However, ten counties were in partial non-compliance. As mandated by the amendment, the board ordered ten counties to reappraise various classes of property under the supervision of the state board through the Property Tax Administrator.

The counties and the reappraisal issues are listed below:

County	Reappraisal Issue
Adams	Residential Property
Chaffee	Strip Commercial Property
Conejos	Residential, Commercial and Agricultural Property
Douglas	Agricultural Land
Elbert	Residential Property
Jackson	Improved and Unimproved Land requiring the appropriate assessment rate for residential improved and residential unimproved land.
Larimer	Agriculture Property
Pitkin	Agriculture Property
Prowers	Residential, Agricultural and Mobile Home Property
Weld	Commercial Property

Routt County was initially issued an order to reappraise commercial property, but the state board rescinded its order when it was determined that the problem stemmed from a series of clerical errors rather than a failure to reappraise.

1985 Enforcement Actions

On September 12, 1985, the state board met to review the Abstracts of Assessments. The board reversed the Logan County Board of Equalization concerning agricultural land classification.

According to the 1982 constitutional amendment, 1985 was to be the first year in which the counties were required to pay back excess state equalization aid to school districts as well as to pay back the cost to supervise the 1984 state ordered reappraisals. On November 13, 1985, the state board met to discuss payback and reappraisal issues. The payback issue pertained to the ten counties receiving reappraisal orders in 1984. The following is a list of those counties receiving payback orders and the amount of each order:

County	Supervision Cost	Excess Aid
Adams	$ 8,326.47	$ 782,478.34
Chaffee	572.30	(5,931.47)*
Conejos	67,240.52	(41,969.18)*
Douglas	2,895.74	5,821.90
Elbert	4,365.27	49,067.55
Jackson	2,814.11	(469.32)*
Larimer	3,321.59	166,877.95
Pitkin	1,095.17	2,774.23
Prowers	44,378.98	311,997.10
Weld	29,535.15	235,013.94
	164,545.30	1,554,031.01

* Not included in total

Chaffee, Conejos, and Jackson Counties did not receive any excess state aid because the counties were overvalued and, consequently, under paid by the above amounts. The Constitution does not provide for funding of underpayments of state aid to schools. Special legislation was introduced but failed to be enacted in order to make up for the underpayments.

Adams County contested its order to pay back excess state aid to schools. In Pat Reale, Adams County Assessor v. State Board of Equalization, the district court held that the state board's order for payback of excess state aid to schools was within the constitutional and statutory authority of the state board.

On November 13, 1985, the state board met to review the third annual assessment study. The state board found three counties not in compliance and ordered them to reappraise under the supervision of the state board through the Property Tax Administrator. The following is a list of counties and the related reappraisal issues:

1. Cheyenne	Agriculture irrigated farm land and dry farm land
2. Sedgwick	Agriculture dry farm land
3. Weld	Agriculture dry farm land

Weld County was asked to cooperate with the Property Tax Administrator in a special study of agricultural irrigated land and grazing land to determine whether or not the classification of the land was correct and whether the agricultural formulas were being properly utilized. Prowers County was also asked to cooperate with the Property Tax Administrator in correcting an internal equalization problem within the residential property class.

1986 Enforcement Actions

During 1986 the State Board of Equalization asked and received legislation to allow them to review abstracts and the annual study simultaneously. On October 6, 1986, the state board met to discuss the results of the fourth annual assessment study, the county Abstracts of Assessment, and the payback of excess state equalization payments to schools stemming from the 1985 orders of reappraisal.

The following counties received orders to pay back excess state equalization payments:

County	Excess Aid includes Interest
Cheyenne	$ 1,589.05
Sedgwick	17,372.91
Weld	97,904.92
	$116,866.88

Based on a review of the annual assessment study, the board ordered the following counties to reappraise:

County	Reappraisal Issues
Las Animas	Agricultural land using the statutory 13 percent capitalization rate
Pueblo	Agricultural land
Garfield	Agricultural grazing land stemming from a county board decision to roll back a selected number of properties

San Miguel County received an order to change its Abstract of Assessment concerning a County Board of Equalization's decision to exempt land leased to the local airport authority. The state board held that the exemption was illegal because the lease did not meet the requirements of purchase pursuant to 39-3-101(1)(p), C.R.S. San Miguel has contested this decision and the decision is still pending in district court.

As part of the Las Animas order to reappraise agricultural land, the board requested that the Las Animas County Assessor cooperate with the Property Tax Administrator in correcting a computer problem affecting the balance of the abstract and the certification of valuations to the taxing jurisdictions.

The results of the special study concerning agricultural irrigated and grazing land in Weld County were presented by the Property Tax Administrator. The study indicated that the two subclasses were not properly classified and the agricultural formulas were not properly used. The Weld County Assessor agreed to reappraise agricultural irrigated and grazing land, sending monthly reports to the Property Tax Administrator documenting the progress of the reappraisal. The state board concluded that a reappraisal order would not be issued on agricultural irrigated and grazing land in Weld County.

DIVISION OF PROPERTY TAXATION

Under the general laws of Colorado, the Division of Property Taxation is headed by the Property Tax Administrator. The administrator is appointed by the State Board of Equalization to serve for a five-year term and until a successor is appointed and qualified.

The primary responsibility of the Division of Property Taxation is to administer the implementation of property tax law throughout the sixty-three counties so that valuations are fair, uniform and defensible, and so that each property class contributes a fair share, no more and no less, of the tax revenue. In other words, the Division's goal is equalization of valuation and proper distribution of property taxes throughout the state.

The Division of Property Taxation is comprised of four sections, which are: Appraisal Standards, Assessment Administration, Central Resources, and State Administered Properties.

Appraisal Standards staff conduct all appraisal courses and develop appraisal procedures for residential, commercial and industrial properties, agricultural land, natural resources and recreational properties. They provide workshops in specialized areas of valuation, conduct schools dealing with the cost, market, and income approaches to value, and research, write and publish manuals dealing with appraisal. Consultation and assistance is provided to county staffs with appraisal problems.

Assessment Administration staff conduct all courses dealing with administration of an assessor's office, and research and develop manuals on assessment procedures and legal references. They provide workshops in specialized areas of assessment administration such as certification of values and levies, title conveyance and parcel mapping. The section serves as primary liaison to the sixty-three counties to determine existing and future needs for assistance in any area.

Central Resources coordinates and edits division publications, conducts research projects for the division, processes abatement petitions, publishes the mobile equipment manual and provides data processing coordination. The section provides administrative services for the division, the State Board of Equalization and the Statutory Advisory Committee to the Property Tax Administrator. In addition, the section deals with taxpayer complaints, and serves as a liaison or coordinator with a variety of agencies with an interest in ad valorem taxation.

State Administered Properties values all public utilities and rail transportation properties in the state, examines all applications for exemption from property taxation, and makes determinations on these cases, as well as examining the annual reports of exempt properties.

PROPERTY TAX LEGISLATION SINCE THE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

During the years 1983, 1984, 1985 and 1986, there was a great deal of property tax legislation affecting the assessment of property and the administration of the property tax laws. The following is a brief description of the new laws affecting property taxation, listed by year:

1983 Property Tax Legislation

Senate Bill 6 (1983)
Property taxation - definitions. Defines the following: Agricultural and livestock products; agricultural equipment which is used on the farm or ranch in the production of agricultural products; agricultural land; inventories of merchandise and materials and supplies which are held for consumption by a business or are held primarily for sale; farm; ranch; and residential land.

Senate Bill 14 (1983)
Mobile homes - ad valorem taxation. Authorizes the Property Tax Administrator to prepare manuals, procedures, and instructions concerning methods of appraising and valuing mobile homes, in addition to other land, improvements, and personal property.

House Bill 1004 (1983)
Property tax - valuation reassessment cycle - duration, base year concept, and level of value. Changes the reassessment cycle from four years to two years beginning in 1986.

House Bill 1007 (1983)
Property Taxation - State Board of Equalization - Membership - Duties. Changes provisions relating to the composition of the State Board of Equalization, the filling of vacancies thereon, and the compensation and term of office of members on the board to comply with the amendments to the state constitution. Sets forth the duties of the state board, including its constitutional duty to reappraise and order reappraisals based on the annual one percent assessment study;its duty to hold hearings on class appeals; and on alleged dereliction of duty by a county assessor.

House Bill 1011 (1983)
Exclusion from the Local Government Revenue-Raising Limitation. Excluded from the seven percent local government revenue limitation any reappraisal expense or payment to the state of excess state equalization aid stemming from an order by the State Board of Equalization.

House Bill 1012 (1983)
Property Tax - Appeals Involving Classes and Subclasses of Property. Directs that the State Board of Equalization rather than the Board of Assessment Appeals shall hold hearings involving classes and subclasses of property. Eliminates the authority of the Board of Assessment Appeals to hold such hearings leaving such board with authority to hold hearings only on individual properties. Includes conforming amendments.

House Bill 1016 (1983)
Property Tax - Approaches to Appraisal - Conformity with State Constitution. Makes various amendments to the statutes to conform them to the state constitution.

House Bill 1038 (1983)
Board of Assessment Appeals - Compensation. Increases the maximum number of days for which members may be compensated in the 1984 calendar year from 120 days to 160 days.

House Bill 1040 (1983)
Multiple Use Property - Allocation Between Classes for Property Tax Purposes. When determining the actual value or valuation for assessment of an improvement to property, establishes the method of allocating such improvement between classes when such improvement has multiple uses, one of which is residential.

House Bill 1104 (1983)
Property Taxes - Valuation of Water Rights. Requires that water rights, except when used for agricultural purposes, be appraised and valued with the real property which the water right serves as a unit.

House Bill 1405 (1983)
Exclusion of Capital Expenditures from the Local Government Revenue-Raising Limitation. Excludes revenue raised to pay for capital expenditures from the seven percent local government revenue limitation.

House Bill 1563 (1983)
Property Taxation - Railroads - Dates. Changes various dates involved in the assessment of rail transportation property, including the date for submission of the sales assessment ratio study, the date for giving notice of the valuation for assessment, and the dates involved with hearings before the property tax administrator.

House Bill 1580 (1983)
Exclusion of Exempt Property from the Local Government Revenue-Raising Limitation and Public Disclosure Tax Levy Provisions. (1) Averages will not add to the Total Average County Levy because denominators (Assessed Valuation) are not common to all.

(2) Municipal Revenues are divided by the sum of Municipal Assessed Valuations

(3) Special District Revenues are divided by the sum of all Special District Assessed Valuations.

* These figures include tax increment valuation, and all tax revenues attributable to the increment are allocated to the increment financing authority only.
